

Bespoke Casement Windows

Ideas & Inspiration

CASEMENT WINDOWS

- French casement windows - no central mullion
- Flush casement windows - sashes sit flush into the frame
- Stormproof casement windows - sashes sit slightly out of the frame and are more weatherproof

CASEMENT WINDOWS

- Good for ventilation as they are easy to open and close at various angles.
- Increased energy efficiency due to reduced air leakage and few moving parts.
- Casement windows are very versatile in that you can choose single or double opening options depending on the size of the window opening.
- Flexibility of design – casement windows look equally well in Tudor, cottage style and Georgian properties.

CASEMENT WINDOWS

- Affordability – casement windows are cheaper to manufacture and install than other styles of windows.
- Low maintenance – the hinges are the only moving parts so there is less maintenance than other styles of windows.
- You will benefit from unrestricted views when the window is open fully.

CASEMENT WINDOWS

- Casement windows are easy to open so they are handy in areas such as the kitchen sink.
- To consider the aesthetics of your home, if you have French doors it looks very well to also have French casement windows.
- Building regulations – casement windows offer dual functionality, both as a window and as an emergency escape.
